

Year End

By Steve Ince

We only came out to watch the last months pass
After living in darkness when they cut off the gas
There's only so far to push when living in fear
But could we be hopeful at the end of the year?

Prophets abound around the desolated streets
Faking the big ideas like techno-precious treats
We'd all like to listen to a message of hope
But the past tells us it's regurgitated soap.

We can tell you all things
There is nothing you can do now
We can give you all things
Just accept and try to live right
We will make you think our way
Then we'll say we really wish you
Happy New Year!

Now watch your back because our freedom has gone
We may have each other but we still feel alone
The haves and the have-nots are one and the same
When everyone thinks that it's all about the blame.

We can tell you all things
There is nothing you can do now
We can give you all things
Just accept and try to live right
We will make you think our way
Then we'll say we really wish you
Happy New Year!

You will be good people
You will be controlled
Model citizens
Doing as you're told
You will be fulfilled
But you will not grow old

We can tell you all things
There is nothing you can do now
We can give you all things
Just accept and try to live right
We will make you think our way
Then we'll say we really wish you
Happy New Year!

We can tell you all things
There is nothing you can do now
We can give you all things
Just accept and try to live right
We will make you think our way
Then we'll say we really wish you
Happy New Year!
Happy New Life!

NO!
